

03. In Harm's Way

(Joseph LeDoux)

You can jump you can dance you can wiggle or prance
But it's hard to get out of harm's way
You can run , you can fly, you can swim or lie
But it's hard to get out of harm's way

There's always something that gets your heart a pumping
That spins your head and makes your face turn red
It quickens your breath and makes you perspire
it tightens your neck and sets your nerves on fire

You can scream, you can cry or pretend to die
But it's hard to get out of harm's way
You can spit, you can holler and try to look taller
But it's hard to get out of harm's way

There's always something that gets your heart a pumping
That spins your head and makes your face turn red
It quickens your breath and makes you perspire
it tightens your neck and sets your nerves on fire

You can fake, you can bluff, and try to look tough
But it's hard to stay out of harm's way
You can't look shy if you want survive
Cause it's hard to stay out of harm's way

Yes it's hard to stay out of harm's way
Well it's hard to stay out of harm's way
Oh it's hard to stay out of harm's way
